

AkibaMiles

Spend every day.
Earn every day.

A rewards network for everyday commerce in Mombasa.

THE OPPORTUNITY

The customer who bought from you this morning will spend money eleven more times this week.

Tuktuk	Chai & mandazi	Your shop	Airtime	Duka	Barber	Chemist
KES 80	KES 60	KES 250	KES 100	KES 320	KES 200	KES 450

That's KES 1,460 in one day. You saw KES 250 of it.

You see one of those moments. You don't see the other eleven.

THE PROBLEM

None of it compounds.

They might come back tomorrow. They might not. You'll never know why.

- You don't know who your regulars are — you recognise faces, not patterns
- You don't know who stopped coming, or when
- You have no way to give a good customer a reason to choose you again
- The shop next door sells what you sell, at your price

Every sale starts from zero. Nothing builds.

WHY NOW

Small businesses never did this because it was too much work.

Paper cards. Stamps. A book under the counter. Someone remembering to ask. It was never that shop owners didn't want to reward good customers — the admin cost more than the customer was worth.

93 of every 100 phones in Kenya are smartphones

Your customers can all take part

Almost everyone already pays by phone

Nothing new for them to learn

A code replaces the card, the stamp and the book

Nothing new for you to manage

The wallet is already on their phone

Nothing to download

INTRODUCING AKIBA

Akiba turns everyday spending into a reason to come back.

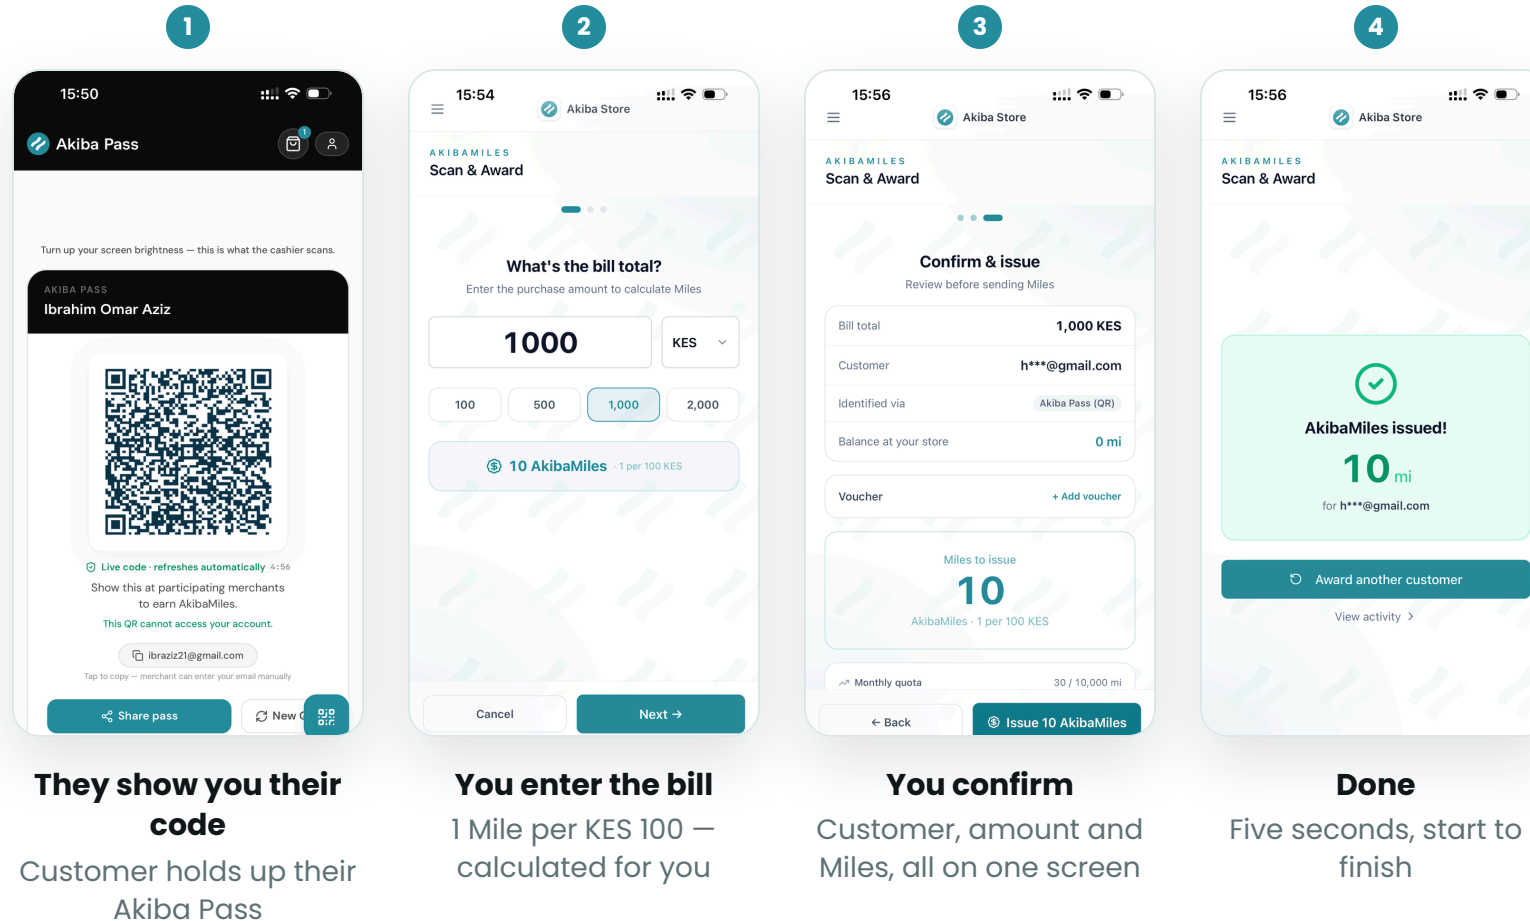

Your customers earn Akiba Miles when they spend with you. They spend those Miles on offers — yours, and other businesses in the network.

WHAT AKIBA IS NOT

- × Not a payment system. They pay you exactly as they do now.
- × No percentage of your sales. Not one shilling.
- × We never touch your money. It goes straight to you.
- × Miles are not a debt. Not money you owe anybody.

HOW IT WORKS

Four steps. Nothing changes about how you take money.

PROOF

Akiba isn't an idea. 65,000
Kenyans already use it.

65,000+

users in Kenya

30,000+

reward claims — with no promotion running

MiniPay

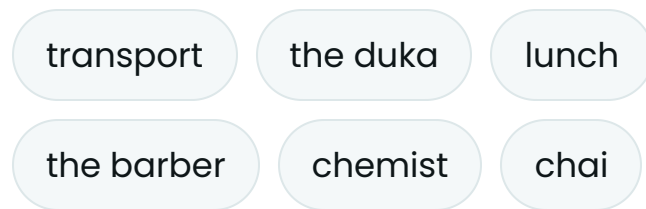

built inside the wallet already on their phone

People are already forming the habit. 30,000 claims — with nothing on offer.

THE CONSUMER

People don't change their lives for rewards. They change where they spend.

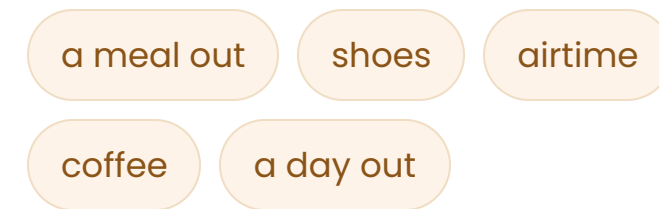

THEY EARN ON WHAT THEY CAN'T AVOID

Akiba Miles

THEY SPEND ON WHAT THEY WANT

That's the behaviour we're bringing to Mombasa.

WHAT YOU GET

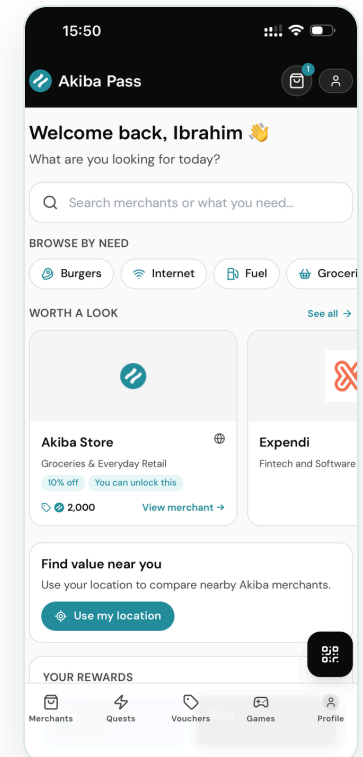

Some of this works from day one. Some grows with the network.

FROM DAY ONE — NETWORK BIG OR SMALL

- Campaign tools. Create an offer, set the rules, see who claims it.
- Your customer data. Who's a regular. Who stopped coming. What they spend.
- Featured content. Videos about your business with a real offer attached — you get claims, scans and first-time customers. Not views.
- You're on the map. Your business appears when customers look for places to earn and spend.
- Signage and materials, provided.

AS THE NETWORK GROWS IN YOUR AREA

- Customers choosing you because they earn here
- Real traffic from that listing — people with Miles to spend
- Position against the shop next door that isn't on Akiba

We're building the second part in your neighbourhood right now. The first part starts the day you join.

ONE CUSTOMER

Imagine one customer.

Amina buys lunch from you most Tuesdays. KES 250. She holds up her phone, you scan it, she earns a couple of Miles. Neither of you thinks much about it.

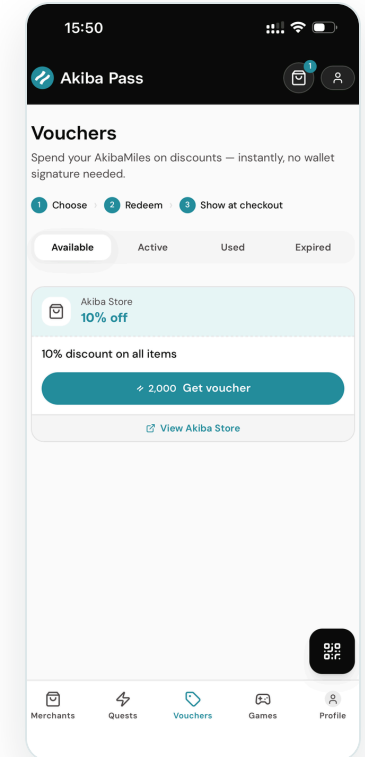

She's earning at the tuktuk too. And the duka. And the chemist. Places she was going anyway.

You put up an offer: visit five times, get KES 200 off your next meal.

Five weeks later she claims it. She brings her sister.

HERE'S WHAT CHANGED FOR YOU

- ✓ You know Amina exists — not as a face, as a customer
- ✓ You know she comes about once a week
- ✓ You know it was your offer that brought her in on that Thursday
- ✓ You know her sister is new, and where she came from

She was an anonymous customer. Now she's someone you can actually do something about.

This only works if it's visible.

- Ask every customer — "are you on Akiba?" Five seconds, every sale
- Display the card where customers can see it — we provide it
- Tell us when something isn't working — we'd rather hear it early
- Train whoever is at the counter — including new staff. We come back whenever you hire
- Honour the offers you create — you set them, so you control them

That's it. No new till. No new system. No change to how you take money.

Start small. Grow when it's working.
